

About Sikhs

Sikhs have been in the U.S. for over 100 years. In the U.S., 99% of turban-wearing individuals practice the Sikh religion.

The turban is an article of faith worn by both women and men that represents a commitment to the core Sikh principles of love, discipline, and equality.

The unique identity has often made Sikhs targets for stereotyping and persecution.

There is no single style of a Sikh turban – the color, shape, and size varies according to personal preferences.
